GONE TO THE BOTTOM.

The Steamer Vera Cruz Lost.

Her Entire Passenger List and Crew Missing.

Portions of Her Cargo Picked Up on the Florida Coast.

New York, September 3.—A special dispatch from St. Augustine, Florida, says: There is very little doubt but the steamer City of Vera Cruz, of the Mexican line, which sailed from New York August 25th for Havana and Vera Cruz, went down in the recent hurricane, which has already strewn the coast with wrecks. The terrible discovery was made yesterday when portions of the mail carried by the ill-fated vessel washed ashore some miles south of this city. One mail bag contained letters for Cuba and Mexico, which had been posted in Paris, France, August 13th, and another lot was found with envelopes bearing the post-mark of New York, August 25th. These at once indicate that the lost vessel was a mail steamer bound for southern ports and the surmise was that it must have been the City of Vera Cruz as she left New York on the day last named. Closer examination showed several bills of lading of the steamer Vera Cruz. Saturday afternoon a large steamer supposed to be the Vera Cruz, passed the brig Caroline Eddy, then about sixty miles from the coast off St. Augustine. This brig was soon after struck by a hurricane and wrecked, drifting on the beach near where the lost letters were discovered. At the time the steamer was sighted she was headed south. The wind was then blowing hard and the gale was rising. The City of Vera Cruz must have been struck by the hurricane and was probably foundered on Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Every hour brings news of some more startling discovery in regard to the supposed wreck. The body of a lady and a little child were found on the shore, cast up by the waves. They were buried by a party of wreckers on the sands near the place where found. This makes already five bodies recovered, three others being the corpses of unknown persons. The shore for over forty miles south of this place is strewn with the cargo of the steamer.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE OLYMPIC.

The new features in the programme at the Olympic, judging from the enthusiasm of the audience last night, are decidedly satisfactory to the frequenters of that place of amusement. The Raulolph children appear in an entirely new role, and are the recipients of hearty encores. The Sheridan's in their Irish specialties, continue also to delight the audience. The balance of the programme is very good, and a pleasant evening can be spent in witnessing it.

"GUS WILLIAMS."

Of this excellent comedian who will shortly appear in this city the Cincinnati Gazette says:

The largest house of the season greeted Mr. Gus Williams last night, when he made his first appearance in his new play, written especially for him, entitled "Our German Senator." The piece is an original "three act and a telephone" farcical comedy abounding in fun, and affords Mr. Williams the most excellent opportunities to play his remarkable and unsurpassed Teutonic specialties, which are neatly introduced in the second act. Mr. Williams appears as "J. Adolph Dinkle," a retired western brewer, and he made a great hit. His make-up of the retired brewer and Senator-elect, was excellent. His acting is, in the most restricted, technical sense of the term, legitimate. His personal electric power, upon the audience is wonderful, and one feels it as soon as he appears on the stage. One by no means despicable token of this was his being able to hold the audience spell-bound by a pathetic recitation, "Somebody's Mother," immediately after a roaring comic song. The members of the company were about equally good in their respective roles.

This day 500 pairs of Men's government shoes, and the largest stock of infants' shoes in the city at SCHIEFER & SON.

ONLY ANOTHER

Radical Lie Nailed to the Political Masthead.

How a Drunken "Brother" Tried to Whip One of His Own ilk.

And How He Lied About It to Cover His Own Shame.

The Whole Truth About the Briant "Outrage."

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Briant, Ind., September 3.—We, the undersigned, citizens of Briant, Ind., having our attention called to an article in yesterday's Gazette headed "Grand Republican Rally in Portland, and Jeff Davis cheered by Rebel sympathizers," wish to have the same refuted in your valuable paper, and say it is an unqualified lie. The facts of the case, simply stated are that the Republicans returned here, after dark, with as much force they could bring this way from Camden and other places, and after our party had most all returned home they paraded our streets and shouted for Garfield, when some young Democrat ventured to shout for Hancock, and was told by a "troop" of "loyal" doctors in the crowd that he might as well shout for Jeff Davis at once. Then a very patriotic Republican said he would knock down any man who would cheer for Jeff Davis. At this a Republican said: Hurrah for Jeff Davis, when this man, so full of beer and "loyalty" that he could not understand that he was one of his own men, made a pass for him but he willingly explained that it was only sham, which seemed to satisfy him for the present. He said, however, that he wanted to whip some Democrat that dared to cheer for Davis. Then a venturesome boy of 15 years said: "Hurrah for Jeff Davis, and whip me if you can," which he proceeded to do, but after making two passes and being too drunk to hit his mark, the boy struck him in the eye with his fist and knocked him down, and he now carries a black eye as a silent but unmistakable evidence of his "fullness."

This, Mr. Editor, is all there is of the matter, and we do not hesitate to give our full names, and dare this thing signed "Union" to deny it.

SHELDON'S FAMILY FIGHT.

Benjamin Weaver, Jr., Fined Twenty-five Dollars.

In the case of the State of Indiana versus Benjamin Weaver, Jr., charged by his father with assault and battery, the particulars of which were published in the SENTINEL of yesterday, Mayor Zollinger fined the degenerate scion in the sum of twenty-five dollars. Upon the conclusion of the trial the charge of surety of the peace against the same individual, also preferred by his father, was taken up and pending the hearing the court adjourned until this morning. During the night young Weaver was confined at the county jail. At the time we go to press the trial is still in progress. In the prosecution of the case S. M. Hench, Esq., is assisted by J. Q. Stratton, Esq., while the interests of the defendant are being guarded and protected by Messrs. Sinclair and Hanna.

Col. Haire, the prominent Michigan Greenbacker who announced himself for Hancock and English a few weeks ago, is in the city this afternoon. He came to hear the joint discussion between Landers and Porter.

WHEN DID HE LIE?

At Huntington or South Bend?

At One Place Porter Said Landers Was a Drunkard,

And at the Other He Denies Having Said So.

In Mr. Landers' Presence He Takes It All Back.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 2.—The first joint debate between Albert G. Porter (Republican) and Franklin Landers (Democratic), candidates for Governor of this state, came off in this city this afternoon. The heavy rains of the early morning and the drizzling showers during the day prevented the farming community from putting in an appearance and the attendance was limited to about 2,000 people, mostly residents of the city and suburbs. The meeting was held in the court house square, and the orators of the day spoke from a band stand facing the Oliver hotel. By previous arrangement Dr. F. L. How, mayor of the city, acted as moderator for Mr. Landers, and the Hon. Lucius Hubbard, for Mr. Porter. At 2 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mayor How, who, in a brief speech, introduced Mr. Landers, who on the conclusion of the applause which greeted him, made an open speech of one hour. He was followed by Hon. A. G. Porter in a speech of an hour and a half, and then Mr. Landers closed with a speech half an hour in length. Mr. Landers began by saying that we are engaged in a contest between the sovereign people and centralization, the question of the days of Jefferson and Hamilton. He proceeded to argue that the Republican party was responsible for the introduction of the dangerous doctrine of centralization by calling the army to the polls, and by establishing Federal supervision of the ballot. He declared that election frauds and outrages without precedent had occurred in Philadelphia and New York under Federal supervision. If Hancock is elected there will be no more supervision of elections, and the usurped powers of Federal judges will be returned to county courts. He then went into a resume of the financial legislation of the Republicans, which he declared to be always in the interest of the bondholders and against the people. He then turned to a review of state affairs in Indiana under Democratic management. The speaker closed by asking Mr. Porter if he charged him (Landers) in the southern counties of the State with being a drunkard.

Mr. Porter was introduced by Mr. Hubbard, and denied positively of ever having said that Mr. Landers was a drunkard. The accusation against the Republican party which Mr. Landers made to-day he made before the war, during the war and since the war. There is not a country in the Union that enjoys the prosperity this does; not a country in which the laborer is so well paid. Briefly summarizing the achievements of the Republican party, he declared it was the true friend of freedom. Referring to financial legislation, he defended the Republican party from the charges of legislating against the interests of the people, arguing that the payment of the bonds in coin was the only equitable way, as to pay in greenbacks would only be exchanging an interest bearing debt for one not bearing interest. Referring to the talk about federal interference in elections, he said it was folly, when to-day in the South State laws are inoperative to protect any election, State or otherwise. Great complaint is made about Republican land grants to railroads. The first grant was made to the Illinois Central railroad by a Democratic Congress, at the solicitation of Stephen A. Douglass, then the leader of the party. All grants have been advocated by Democrats and Republicans alike. It is nonsense to charge either party with them.

In closing, Mr. Landers denied that Mr. Porter had shown what had become of the money, and insisted that enough had been paid by the people to have paid off the National debt. He didn't believe in talking about the bloody shirt. Hancock had killed that business, and it was idle to talk of Weaver and Randall. The marshals, acting under the election laws, have driven honest Democrats from the polls.

Mr. Landers followed by giving his financial views, and called upon the gentleman to read an alleged extract from a speech by Mr. Porter at Huntington, Ind., in which he accused Mr. Landers of indulging too much in stimulants. This closed proceedings.

Ballooning in the North.

To the editor of the SENTINEL.

I am credibly informed that there is a certain prominent business firm in this city in whose employ there are five or six young Democrats who have been given to understand by a member of said firm that if they would not come out for Garfield and Arthur, their services would not be needed longer, in consequence of which threat the said young Democrats have "lopped over." Now this firm is very largely patronized by Democrats, and should this member of this firm persist in this method of electioneering his name will appear in the columns of your paper. A word to the wise is sufficient.

KERNES.

Fort Wayne, September 3, 1880.

Cloaks at Chaska's.

Chaska is making extensive preparations for his display at the fair, which will be worth coming fifty miles to see. He has already expended a large amount in purchasing suitable attractions, and it is safe to say that his display of notions and fancy goods will be far above the average. New goods are daily arriving at his fashion emporium on Calhoun street, opposite the Avenue house. Next week a large consignment of cloaks, which Mr. Chaska purchased during his recent eastern trip, will arrive and be offered for prices that cannot be approached by any firm in the city or State. They will be of new and novel design, and adapted for fall and winter use.

To all of our lady readers we would say that a visit to Chaska's next week will amply repay them. Low prices are the rule at Chaska's, and square dealing is the secret of his present immense patronage.

AS THERE seems to be a hitch as to who shall succeed GEN. MYER, better known as "Old Probabilities," as Chief of the Signal Service Department, we would suggest that the place be given to VERNOR. He appears to be eminently fitted for the position.

THE name of Wm. E. Creary is among the list of martyrs in the published columns in Republican organs of those soldiers turned out of office by the Democratic Senate. He was a personal friend of Senator Ferry, of Michigan, and through his influence was appointed a Paymaster in the army, his nomination being kindly confirmed by the Democratic Senate. Creary signalled his advent into the active duties of his office by getting blind drunk and taking a prostitute into camp with him, which raised a breeze. He was court-martialed, convicted and sentenced to be dismissed. Since then, however, very vigorous and influential agencies have been at work to save him the disgrace of a dismissal. The understanding now seems to be that Creary will not be dismissed, but will be suspended for one year without pay. Senator Ferry has been quite active in his efforts to secure a modification of the court-martial sentence. It would thus appear that such martyrs as Creary are the seed of the Republican Church.

State Sovereignty.

Governor Hendricks' anecdote of the poor farmer and the four gallons of apple brandy has set Judge Taylor a going on the terrible doctrine of State Sovereignty. It was hardly to be expected that Governor Hendricks could go home from Fort Wayne without being pursued with a copy of the subsidized News, containing one of Judge Taylor's speeches.

The Judge evidently believes, or affects to believe, that the doctrine of State Sovereignty, and its supposed corollary secession, is not dead yet. In his mind "the war is a failure," and he thinks that "that court, whose advocates argue in thunder tones of cannon and whose judgments are written in letters of blood" did not, after all, give a final decision and he seems to want more war and blood. There are men, as wise and patriotic perhaps as Judge Taylor, who have believed and still believe that war is never the right nor the best way to settle political disputes. It may settle facts, but never principles—reason not force is the arbitrator of principles. A truly wise and good and God-fearing people do not need that their principles or their laws shall be evoked, or speak in thunder tones of cannon," nor be "written in letters of blood."

It is the fashion now for radical and intensely partisan Republicans like Judge Taylor to deride Jefferson and Madison. Why? Because they believed and taught that the States in the Federal Union, are the natural conservators of Democratic liberty, and have some rights which the Federal or National Government is bound to respect.

"The very head and front of their offending Hath this extent, no more."

All this is easily explained. The Republican leaders know that their party cannot long continue to dominate over the people and States of this Union, unless there is a virtual annihilation of the rights and powers of the State governments. Hence the effort to array the solid North against the solid South. Hence the effort for a strong Government, a great Nation, that shall wholly swallow up the States. They are not even willing that a poor man, accused of permitting the making of four gallons of apple brandy, in violation of a United States revenue or tax-law, should be tried in a State Court by the neighbors of his own vicinage. No! "the sovereignty of the Nation" is involved in four gallons of apple brandy, and must be vindicated in a United States Court, even though it works the ruin of a citizen for a petty offense that any Justice of the Peace, sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, would be competent to try with the least expense to the Government and the accused person. The fact that a public officer is a citizen of Indiana, and sworn to support the Constitution of the State of Indiana, is enough "to fill a thoughtful man (like Judge Taylor) with serious reflections." The man must be "a moonshiner," "a traitor" or "disloyal," and utterly unfit to pass judgment upon a great national question of a violation of the "revenue laws of the United States," even to the extent of four gallons of apple brandy.

These strong Government Republicans believe in a Government that a man must every day see and feel. Its initial letter N must be a big one. It must hold the citizen in an iron frame, as it were, that he feels at every point. They do not believe in the theory that "the world is governed too much," and that the highest statesmanship is that which develops true individual self government, and makes every citizen a law unto himself—a man ruled by a law from within, rather than by a law from without.

But we are not going to theorize nor argue. We are in pursuit of a little bit of history. We don't agree with Judge Taylor and his school of strong Government men, that Jefferson and Madison and Democrats of their faith, were public enemies or sinners, above all other sinners.

Judge Taylor has quoted, only to condemn, one of the Kentucky resolutions of 1798, and his comments would lead his hearers (the young first voters he professed to address), to believe that the doctrines of the resolution were peculiar to Jefferson and Madison and the Democratic party of that day. Possibly, Judge Taylor was not aware, or if he was, thought it discreet to conceal his knowledge, that the doctrines of the Kentucky resolutions of 1798 were not peculiar to Virginia and Kentucky, and did not die with the 18th century. They flourished in Northern States, and even in New England in 1814, if not later.

We have before us a volume entitled, "History of the Hartford Convention," by Theodore Dwight, Secretary of the Convention, and on page 361, we find, among others of kindred import, this declaration of political doctrine, in the report adopted by that convention on January 4, 1815, viz:

"That acts of Congress in violation of the constitution are absolutely void, is an undeniable position."

It does not, however, consist with respect and forbearance due from a confederate State towards the general government, to fly to open resistance upon every infraction of the constitution. The mode and the energy of the opposition, should always conform to the nature of the violation, the determination manifested to persist in it, and the danger of delay. But in cases of deliberate, dangerous, and palpable infractions of the constitution, affecting the sovereignty of a State, and liberties of the people; it is not only the right but the duty of such a State, to interpose its authority for their protection, in the manner best calculated to secure that end.

When emergencies occur which are either beyond the reach of the judicial tribunals, or too pressing to admit of the delay incident to their forms, States which have no common umpire, must be their own judges, and execute their own decisions. It will thus be, proper for the several States to await the ultimate disposal of the obnoxious measures recommended by the Secretary of War, or pending before Congress, and so to use their power according to the character these measures shall finally assume, as if actually to protect their own sovereignty, and rights, and liberties of their citizenry."

We have italicized a few words as above, for sake of emphasis.

On page 358 we find this declaration:

"It is as much the duty of the State authorities to watch over the rights reserved as of the United States to exercise the powers which are delegated."

On page 355, this, "Finally, if the Union be destined to dissolution by reason of the multiplied abuses of bad administrations, it should if possible be the work of peaceable times and deliberate consent. Some new form of confederacy, should be substituted among those States which shall intend to maintain a federal relation to each other."

The phrases "constitutional compact," "sovereignty of the States," "every confederate State," applied to States, and the phrases, "an iron despotism," "a military despotism," applied to the national government, and kindred expressions are to be found in this report.

There are eminent names signed to the report—names of men whom Judge Taylor ought to respect. Among them is no less a name than that of Nathan Dane, framer of the ordinance of 1787, the charter of freedom for the government of the United States territory Northwest of the Ohio river. There are other names not unknown to fame, George Cabot, Harrison Gray Otis, James Hillhouse, Roger Minot Sherman, and in all twenty-six names of the foremost men of New England. They were all federalists of the school of Alexander Hamilton, America's model thinker and statesman, according to James A. Garfield.

A careful reading of the declaration above quoted, and of the report itself and a comparison of it with the Kentucky resolution of 1798 and Madison Virginia resolution of same year will show a marked identity of political doctrine in all; and we must conclude that if Jefferson and Madison were sinners in 1798, because of their opposition to the Alien and Sedition laws of John Adams, so were the Hartford convention federalists of 1814, because of their opposition to the policy of Jefferson and Madison in the war of 1812.

When Henry Clay, John Quincy Adams, James A. Bayard and Albert Gallatin were in December 1814, framing the treaty of Ghent, at the same time that Nathan Dane and his compeers, were framing the report of the Hartford convention, Andrew Jackson was preparing for the victory of New Orleans of the 8th of January, 1815.

Whether the treaty of Ghent and Gen. Jackson's victory saved the New England States from a practical assertion of the doctrines of the Hartford convention of Dec. 15, 1814, and of the Kentucky resolution of 1798, is one of the questions about which history will speculate without a decision. We commend it to Judge Taylor as a dead issue worth re-creation, but in its discussion we hope he will not further dishonor Jefferson and Madison, without giving to Nathan Dane and George Cabot and their associates, their due share of his patriotic vituperation, for asserting the pertinent dogma of State Rights and setting the Southern States a bad example in the direction of nullification and secession.

Another Republican Comes Over.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 3.—Cip-tain James S. Wilson, Republican candidate for Sheriff of Wabash county, Illinois, has joined the Moput Carmel Hancock Club. The Radicals elected Wilson Sheriff two years ago by a majority of 128, and he is now their candidate for re-election. They have taken no steps to remove him from the ticket, and admit to do so would weaken it. The Radical party in that county is badly rattled.

It took the prince of Wales a whole year to learn to waltz, and even now he holds his legs as stiff as poker. What sort of a king will such a man make?

Dr. Harter's FEVER AGUE SPECIFIC

STANDS TO-DAY WITHOUT A RIVAL IN THE WORLD.
For the cure of all kinds of Ague and Chills it has no equal; having stood the test of universal use for thirty years in the most malarial districts. It never fails to cure, not merely removing for a time the symptoms, but eradicating the cause of the disease, thereby making a permanent cure. Price only 75 cts.
Manufactured by The Dr. Harter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.
Rev. F. HACKMEIER, Supt. German Protestant Orphan's Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis Co., writing April 30th, 1877, says: "Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific is a positive cure for Chills and Fever; has never failed with us."
Mr. J. C. WELBORN, of Kearsport, Ill., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years' standing, with Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to benefit her."
Dr. YOUNG, of Little York Mo., says: "I have used Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific in my practice, and can heartily recommend it to the public."

GARFIELD'S VISION.

[New York Sun.]
I'd a vision in my sleep,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
I'm so sad I ain't no weep,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
'Twas a vision of defeat
Overwhelming and complete!
If I only could retreat,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine,
Life would really be more sweet,
Arthur mine.

I've done wrong I must confess,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
I'm a hypocrite I guess,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
I can preach and I can pray;
I love to take back pay,
And bribe too, any day,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
Don't put money in my way,
Arthur mine.

Well, I hope to be forgiven,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
If not here 'twill be in heaven,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
But it's hard that I must see
Such a prize escape from me.
'Tis the hand of destiny,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
And my fate I'll share with thee,
Arthur mine!

A DREADFUL OUTRAGE.
A Party of Drunks Assault and Ravish a Woman in the Presence of Her Husband.

A special from Baltimore says that the residents of Bellaire, O., were aroused at a late hour on Saturday night last by loud cries of murder which appeared to come from a woman in distress on the opposite side of the river. Mingled with this distressing sound were the cries of "Help!" from the husband and child of the woman. It was not long before the river bank was completely lined with people to rescue the sufferers. Skiffs were procured and loaded down with men in the direction from whence the cries were heard. When the husband and son landed on the shore and the former told his story, he said that he had camped on the opposite shore with the intention of spending the night, when some half dozen men, crazy with liquor, came upon them and outraged his wife. He attempted to protect his wife, when he was knocked down and beaten, and afterward put in a skiff and pushed out into the river. On account of having his arm broken he could make but slow progress. When the crowd had heard the story several skiffs were loaded, and they immediately started in pursuit of the assailants and to rescue the woman. Arriving within a short distance of the shore, they were fired upon by the ruffians, and had to return. The outragers then left their victim, who ran into the water toward Benwood ferry, to make her escape. There she again cried for help, which aroused the people on that side of the shore, who went to her rescue and brought her over. Officer Curran took her in charge and carried her to her husband. The woman was terribly injured, and her husband has his nose and arm broken. No clue as yet to the perpetrators of the terrible outrage has been found, though it is thought some of them are from Bellaire.

THE CITY.

A noisy loafer was ejected from the Olympic last night. It served him right.

The Free Methodists who were enjoying a season of refreshing religious communion on the commons in the southern part of the city, were yesterday compelled to pull up stakes by reason of the rain.

At the time we go to press there is a disgusting case on trial before Justice Harding, a bald-headed man named Jacob Lininger being called upon to answer a charge of a revolting nature preferred by a little girl named Robbins.

The Clinton street sewer which has been in course of construction under the canal for some time past, by direction of City Civil Engineer Brackenridge, was this morning completed, and to-morrow the water will again be let into the canal.

By mutual agreement between the Democratic and Republican Central Committees neither party will make any special demonstration to-night on the occasion of the joint discussion between Hon. Franklin Landers and Judge Porter.

Personal Mention.

Mr. John D. Hale, of Geneva, is in the city to-day.

Governor Brockmeyer will speak at Berne, Adams county, to-morrow afternoon.

Hon. Franklin Landers got away with Judge Porter bad at South Bend yesterday.

Hon. Frank Landers and Judge Porter have both arrived in the city and are ready for to-night's fray.

Rev. Marine, of this city, will conduct the opening services at the Portland camp-meeting, which begins this evening.

Rev. D. W. Moffat, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will return to Fort Wayne from Minnesota next week.

The forty-ninth natal anniversary of Mr. Harry Campbell was duly celebrated last evening at his Lafayette street residence.

Fred Douglass was a passenger on the train yesterday from Richmond to Fountain City, having an engagement to speak at the latter place.

Mr. A. P. Cosgrove, Business Manager of the Warsaw Indianian, is in the city to-day. He is a cousin of Frank Cosgrove, Allen county's next sheriff.

Col. W. D. Murphy, of New York, a most accomplished and eloquent Irish speaker, will accompany Hon. George W. Julian to Fort Wayne on Tuesday next, August 7.

Dr. John S. Irwin, superintendent of Fort Wayne's public schools, is confined to his residence, No. 241 West Main street, with a severe attack of ague. May his recovery be speedy.

Miss F. S. Gaston, who made so many friends in this city, both as a lady and a teacher, will not return to Fort Wayne as was expected, she having secured a lucrative position in the college at Adrian, Mich.

Judge Van Long, Dr. Davenport and Mr. Chapman, of Kosciusko county, Senator Peed, of Marshall county, Gen. Reub. Williams, of the Warsaw Indianian, and Mr. W. K. Shetter, of the Angola Herald, are in the city and will take in the joint discussion between Mr. Landers and Mr. Porter.

Prof. Louis Schultz, of Fort Wayne, was in the city several days last week, calling on his old time friends and renewing old acquaintances. We learn that it is his intention of bringing a troupe of sixteen or seventeen musicians to the city some time next fall and giving a grand concert. He will be greeted by a large audience should he do so.—Huntington Democrat.

Seized With a Fainting Fit.

Late in the afternoon of yesterday George Cummins entered the Globe restaurant and after ordering and eating a supper, proceeded to take his departure. At the threshold of the restaurant he was suddenly seized with a fainting spell and fell to the floor with great violence. He was immediately picked up and placed in a chair, and after a protracted rest was able to move about once again.

Railway Notes.

The Fairfield avenue railway gate has been completed and works admirably. Similar gates will be constructed at the different railway crossings, from time to time.

Mr. C. D. Gorham, superintendent of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad, is in the city.

The total number of cars sent east in August over the Wabash road from this point was, loaded, 16,607; empty, 562. Number sent west was, loaded, 6,062; empty, 12,295; being an increase over the same month last year of over 10,000. The total number of cars arriving and departing at Toledo was 37,166, or an average of over 1,200 per day. Of that number 14,909 were laden with grain, 805 with live stock and the balance with freight of a miscellaneous character.

There was a slight wreck on the Grand Rapids road this morning. Two freight cars jumped the track and were badly shaken up.

Forty-two German emigrants passed through the city on No. 1 to-day.

The Wabash paymaster was in Fort Wayne yesterday and paid off all the employees of the company at this point in good old Democratic money—gold.

A Blufftonite Missing.

An Indianapolis paper of yesterday says: Two gentlemen arrived in the city last night, from Bluffton, to inquire after one William C. Robinson, of that place, who left his home last Thursday, and has not been heard from beyond this city. He drove to the city in a buggy, and was seen and greeted at the toll-gate about a mile outside the city limits. He then came into the city and purchased some tools at Vonnegut's, after which he started for the stockyards, saying he would return and pay for the purchase before leaving the city. He was intending to move to Franklin, and it was with reference to this change that he came on to the city. Mr. Robinson was formerly a resident of this city. He is about five feet ten inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds. He had a watch and chain and a small sum of money in his possession when last seen. His friends are very anxious about him. Information may be lodged with Chas. Williamson.

KATIE ROSE KLINE.

Steals Money from Her Mother, Invests in Jewelry and Comes to Fort Wayne.

In the SENTINEL of Wednesday were detailed the particulars of a thirteen-year old girl coming to Fort Wayne last Monday from Toledo and stopping at the Harmon House, near the South depot. The girl claimed that she had come to pay a visit to her uncle, John Peter Kline, who was to have met her at the depot but failed to do so. During her stay in the city she made frequent visits to the postoffice in the hope of receiving a letter from her mother, whom she claimed to have written to. Her story was received with considerable allowance by the authorities, and it now turns out that Katie is a very crooked young girl and that she came to this city for the purpose of having a little picnic all to herself after stealing a sum of money from her mother. A letter received here this morning, of which the following is a copy, will explain the movements of the wicked young girl:

Office of Chief of Police, Toledo, Ohio, September 20, 1880.

Hugh Diehl, Esq., City Marshal, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DEAR SIR: A girl left home from this city named Katie Rosa Kline, and took train for your city last Monday at noon. She is thirteen years old, very large of her size, dark complexion, very heavy head of black or dark hair, hazel or brown eyes. She claimed she was going to meet her uncle at your city, named Joe Harbinder. She ran away and took from her mother $15.00, and had other money she had collected belonging to her mother. She spent most of the money for a ring with a blue set in it, and a necklace with a cross. She only had three dresses of which enclosed are samples. Wore sailor hat trimmed with red; but may be she has trimmed it over. Will you please look her up. Hold and telegraph me, and you will do an everlasting favor to a widowed mother.

Respectfully yours,

W. P. SCOTT,

Chief of Police.

Armed with the foregoing letter Deputy Marshal Falker visited the Harmon House this morning in quest of the girl but only to learn that she had been taken back to Toledo by the conductor of yesterday's accommodation train. Chief of Police Scott was then informed of the facts in the premises by telegraph.

Hancock and English.

As per announcement made in the columns of the SENTINEL a meeting of the Democrats of the seventh ward was held at the engine house last evening. The Hon. G. W. Brockmeyer, of Missouri, addressed the large and enthusiastic meeting. Mr. Brockmeyer is a very able and eloquent speaker and the manner in which he described the corruptness of the Republican party was received by the audience with great enthusiasm. The meeting adjourned to meet on next Monday evening at 7 o'clock sharp.

VALENTINE R. MAURI,
Secretary.

Celebration of a Wooden Wedding.

Yesterday was the fifth anniversary of the wedding nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chaska, one of Calhoun street's most popular and successful merchants, and the event was appropriately observed last evening at their wooden wedding. A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chaska gathered at their residence at the corner of Clinton and Jefferson streets, and succeeded in making the fleeting hours pass most joyously. They took with them kind remembrances in the shape of woodenware of both useful and ornamental designs, which were presented to the happy couple who have trod life's pathway together for a half decade in the sweet enjoyment of each other's society. In the congratulations which are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. C. the SENTINEL most heartily joins, and trusts that happiness and prosperity will ever abide with them throughout life, and that when separated by death they may be re-united in that happy land where all is joy and love and peace.

The Mayor's Court.

There were but two violators of the law before Mayor Zollinger this morning. The first called was a young man named Patrick O'Brien who stated that he was employed in the Pittsburgh shops. Patrick was one of a party of four who got wonderfully and fearfully drunk last night and who were amusing themselves by kicking over everything that came in their way as they passed up Calhoun street. Officer O'Ryan hearing the racket swooped down on the young men and captured Patrick, the others succeeding in making their escape. He was sent to jail for fifteen days in default of the payment of a fine of $12.00.

An old man named Lewis Gangling got drunk yesterday and went up into the office of Mayor Zollinger while the Weaver assault and battery case was in progress Judge Sinclair at the time was pleading in behalf of the young man Weaver who had so cruelly assailed his father, and Gangling wanted to take a hand in the case. He was promptly taken by the ear and walked out. Later in the afternoon he began making a speech at the artesian well when he was ordered by Deputy Marshal Falker to "cheese it" and go home. Not acting on the suggestion with any degree of alacrity he was locked up. For a period of twelve days he will languish in the county gaol.

Five Little Items from the Columbia City Post.

Misses Addie Bittenbender and Mamie Irwin, of Fort Wayne, are visiting Miss Julia Sandmeyer, of this place.

Our Democratic friends over in Allen promise fully as large a majority for State and National tickets as they gave in 1876.

A great many from this place are going to Fort Wayne next Friday to see the "pork packer" make a yard of bologna out of Porter.

The Democrats of Fort Wayne propose to make it unhealthy for the Republicans if they stone another Democratic procession. That kind of political argument will not do.

Judge Taylor is in favor of letting well-enough alone. That's just what the Democrats in this district are going to do. Hon. W. G. Colerick is good enough, so they will send him back and permit Taylor to stay at home.

A Greater Discovery Than Electricity.

(Chicago Tribune.)

I have spent over two thousand dollars, said J. D. L. Harvey, Esq., of Chicago, to cure my wife of Rheumatism. Two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil accomplished what all the medical treatment and other remedies failed to effect. I regard it as a greater discovery than electricity and a boon to the human race.

To Our Patrons.

Owing to the general dissatisfaction experienced by our patrons, at the time to have work done, we have dropped the agency of the Troy laundry, and in place thereof we have secured the entire control of another laundry, which we have entirely refitted with the latest improved machinery, and have secured the services of the best laundry hands in the country. We use the improved Troy system and can turn out work in the best style in twenty-four hours from the receipt of the goods. Our laundry will be known as the Troy City Laundry, and our former patrons are respectfully requested to continue their patronage, as we are in better shape to do good and expeditious work than any firm in the city.

MAINE.

Great Interest Being Manifested in the Election To-Day.

The Falsity of the Reports Sent Out by the Republicans Relative to the Vermont Election.

The Hancock Republican Association of New York.

Two Republican Leaders Exchange Blows and Draw Blood.

The Republicans of Albany Irreparably Rent in Twain.

Special to the SENTINEL by American Union Telegraph.

New York, Sept. 13.—The election in Maine to-day, is looked to with much interest by both political headquarters here. The Republicans having made their comparison of the votes in Vermont with the corresponding State election in the last Presidential year, the Democrats will compare the Maine returns in the same way with the vote in September, 1876, when the majority of Conner, Republican, for Governor, was 14,910 over the combined vote of all the other candidates.

The Republicans will attempt to misrepresent the result by stating losses and gains compared with the other elections than that of September, 1876. The latest dispatches give further evidence of the falsity of the reports about the Vermont election sent out from Republican headquarters and demonstrates the accuracy of the estimate made by Hiram Atkins, the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, as compared with the election in 1876. The radical majority in proportion to the votes cast is considerably decreased. The last republican estimate places the majority at 25,041, but every official return makes a further reduction and discloses more fully the repetition of the Republican tactics of 1876, when they claimed 30,000 majority in Vermont until after the Maine election.

The Hancock Republican association of New York will to-morrow open headquarters at No. 21 West Fourth street. The association occupies the entire house, which is as large and is as elegant as the one occupied by the National Democratic committee. The Hancock Republicans now number 3,000 enrolled members in this city. Daniel Butterfield, formerly chief of staff of the army of the Potomac and Assistant Treasurer at New York; Chauncey Shaffer, the eminent lawyer; Col. A. J. H. Duganne, the poet; H. H. Hadley, the secretary of the Business Men's Moderation society; Gen. Jones, formerly postmaster of New York and Clerk of the Court of Appeals, are among the leading members. This association is entirely distinct from the Hancock veterans and is chiefly composed of civilians, lawyers, merchants, and business men. At the National Republican headquarters yesterday, there was a disgraceful fight between two Republican political leaders, Col. Smith, secretary of the Republican county committee, and Jake Knoblock, late Republican clerk of a local civil court; one of the persons is considered the representative of the Governor, and both are leaders among the class of politicians to which Arthur, the Republican candidate for Vice-President, belongs. Several blows were struck and blood flowed freely. The fighters were finally separated by Marshal Jewell, the Chairman of the National Republican Committee, who sprang between them, and after a struggle succeeded in pushing them apart. The Republicans are much disappointed that the nomination of Arthur has not united the factions of their party in this city. In the interior of his State hostility between the Republican factions is bitter. In Albany the quarrel has culminated in a split and the organization of two parties. One of the conventions held at Albany Saturday nominated Bailey, the present Republican member of Congress, and the other Adams, his Republican predecessor. Both conventions nominated full county tickets. The break is irreparable and secures the gain of a Democratic Congressman and the election of Democratic nominees in the district. The Adams convention was run by Arthur's friends and the Bailey convention in the interest of Garfield. The outbreaks in Albany and New York are only indications of the bitter hostility between the Arthursites and Garfielders throughout this State. The New York Times of to-day says of the Albany split: "It is deeply to be regretted that union could not be made in Albany, and it is still to be hoped that some agreement satisfactory to both factions may be arranged before the election."

Senator Wallace, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Democratic Congressional campaign club, was in town yesterday. He is sanguine of the success of the Democrats in the November elections. The advice received by his committee led him to feel confident of Democratic successes in Indiana in October, and to believe that Ohio is by no means a sure State for the Republicans. Senator Wallace has no doubt that the differences in the party in Virginia would be amicably adjusted and the State made absolutely safe for the Democrats.

Ex-State Senator James Fallegger, of Connecticut, called at the Democratic National Committee rooms and headquarters Saturday evening. He said the campaign in Connecticut is progressing finely. Hancock clubs are forming in all parts of the State. The Eastern part of the State is aroused to a degree beyond the expectations of the most sanguine Democrats. This is especially true of Windham county which has been the Republican stronghold for twenty-five years. Hancock clubs have been established in every town and village in the county. A mass meeting held last week in Donnellsonville, a manufacturing centre in the town of Killingly, in that county, was attended by 2,400 voters. It was the largest Democratic meeting ever held in that county and was a surprise to the people of the town. The party leaders in that county are not calling for speakers from other parts of the State but are making the canvass themselves.

A Dismal Failure.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—This evening General Ben Harrison "answered" the bitter speech made by Governor Hendricks a week ago against General Garfield. The city was alive with enthusiasm. A grand torchlight procession paraded the streets headed by brass bands which gave martial music. An extraordinary speech was expected from General Harrison, as it had been prepared expressly for the occasion, but it did not materialize.

The Democrats had a grand torchlight procession, after which they were entertained by several leading Democrats.

The Punning Lovers.

While taking a stroll lately we came upon a young couple of lovers. We listened and the following conversation took place between the pair: "Come pet and sit on my lap," said he; "tis an uneasy seat," said she; "Thigh seat's like calf a seat," she replied. "Half a seat," he said, "upon my conshins, it is over two feet," said she. "Keep on ankle me, if you wish," said she.

"If a man kills you heel do wrong," he replied. "Upon my sole you are right," said she.

"We ought toe nail such puns, my darling," said he, and the conversation ceased and there was a sweet little cracking noise as if the pair was engaged in nailing the puns.

MAGGIE MITCHELL.

Of this noted actress, who will appear in this city on the 15th inst., the Cleveland Herald says:

The second appearance of Miss Maggie Mitchell as Fanchon called out an audience that was limited only by the capacity of the house. The best seats, or a large share of them, were reserved during the day, and those that remained found ready occupants. Miss Mitchell was greeted on her appearance upon the stage with genuine and hearty applause, which was repeated again and again during the evening.

No exception can be taken to the manner in which Miss Mitchell renders the character of Fanchon. In the heart of the neglected little Cricket she threw an unbounded depth of feeling, never overdoing and never failing to bring a just tone of voice and a suitable facial expression to every shade of the various passions. Every feature of her acting was natural. She had thoroughly analyzed the character and felt what she played. The audience applauded frequently, and we bespeak a crowded house for this evening.

GUS WILLIAMS

will present his new play, a three-act farce, entitled "Our German Senator," at the Grand Opera House, Thursday evening, September 16. The story is threadlike but serves; little plot is demanded in a farce, and, as fun abounds, the desired aim is achieved. Very diverting is Mr. Williams as Dinkel. The part suits him well and the situations are funny throughout. In addition to the leading character, there are other light parts, all of which are fairly enacted. In the second act Mr. Gus Williams introduced his latest comic songs and was heartily applauded. His recital of "Somebody's Mother" was full of effect and replete with tenderness. Like John T. Raymond, Gus Williams, with all his love of the comic, understands well the power of pathos, and in his reading of the selection named accorded the required feeling.

RIAL'S HUMPTY DUMPTY.

The "Rial Humpty Dumpty" company will appear on Saturday evening, Sept. 18th, in that most successful pantomime, "Humpty Dumpty," and it does not require supernatural wisdom to predict that the performance will be greeted by a full house. In other cities the company has done a rushing business, and in all probability there are enough people in Fort Wayne anxious to indulge their propensity for laughing, to fill the Grand Opera House. Both the pantomime and company have received laudatory commendation and will come strongly endorsed.

No DEMOCRAT who loves his party will falter in the present struggle.

If the Republicans bulldoze workmen in States that have always been overwhelmingly Republican, what will they not resort to in States that are close?

The politicians who stomp Rhode Island have an easy time of it. A grand stand is erected in the middle of the State and the thing is done with a single speech.

Mr. DEMOCRAT, when election day comes around be sure that you vote the straight ticket, the whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket—the good old Democratic ticket.

G. S. McLELLAN steps from the Governor's chair to the presidency of the New York Underground railway. Luck and good positions seem to be chasing the hero of Antietam.

The most encouraging news comes from California. The San Francisco Globe says that the Hancock "boom" is spreading over the entire State, with every assurance of victory.

"VERMONT blazes the way," exclaims the Republican press. We remember having heard a similar remark in 1876, and yet the Republican party had to steal the electoral votes of three States before it could seat its candidate.

Judge THUMBALL says that not in twenty years has he seen such enthusiasm as inspires the people of Illinois for a radical change in the Government. Democratic barbecues attended by 20,000 people are no uncommon occurrence.

It is not long ago that almost every Republican paper in the country condemned James A. Garfield as a dishonest man, and a Republican convention in Ohio called on him to resign his seat in Congress. These are facts that cannot be denied.

The election in the State of Maine is in progress to-day, and the indications are that a tremendous vote will be thrown. John A. Logan boldly asserts that his party proposes to buy the vote of Maine this time. That seems to be the only way they can get it. The Republican committee is also trying to buy the vote of the State of Indiana, and with that purpose in view a large sum of money will be used in Allen county.

"A Celebrated Case."

Many of our readers have heard of it, and some few perhaps may have seen it represented on the stage. But the case we speak of is not that case. In fact, it is a very different kind of a case from any other case that has been before it, or will probably ever come after it. It is remarkable chiefly as involving two Presidencies—one that is past, or nearly so, and one that is to follow it. It is the case of Hendricks vs. Garfield. Unlike all other cases, it is being tried in many places and before different juries at one and the same time; before large crowds and before small crowds, and even when only two or three can be gathered together. It was no sooner docketed and the opening speech of the prosecutor ended, than the most eminent counsel rushed to the defense. The Secretary of the Treasury was the first to leave all else to take care of itself and rush to the defense of his friend. And well he might: for the conviction of the defendant is tantamount to a conviction of himself. The evidence that convicts Garfield implicates the secretary also. Gen. Ben. Harrison, too, apparently conscious that the secretary had not saved his comrade's bacon, puts in an appearance, not only as counsel, but as proxy and vicarious substitute for the defendant. In fact not these alone, but all the great Goliaths of the Republican party are rushing in full armor upon the little David who, armed only with the sling and a pebble of truth, first laid the swaggering Philistine prone on the ground. To bystanders this rush of assistants has not so much the appearance of hope to save Garfield alive as to bear off and bury his dead body with the honors of war.

But we have been so taken up with describing the fight and the parts of the combatants, that we had almost neglected to tell what the fight was about, and how it occurred.

It fell out in this wise: Mr. Hendricks charged Garfield with having been shut up in an inner room of the New Orleans Custom House, guarded by police and the like attendants, engaged in taking and manipulating the testimony of Amy Mitchell and other colored persons of West Feliciana, who afterwards denied all their depositions; that after this, Garfield sat as a juror and based his verdict upon the evidence that he himself had cooked up; that if such evidence had not been so cooked up, the Kellogg return which Garfield voted for, could not have been made. Mr. Hendricks also charges, and neither Garfield nor his defenders can deny that after openly and explicitly declaring in a speech in Congress that the Electoral Commission bill gave the right to go behind the Kellogg returns and to "open up every ballot box and to examine every ballot that had been cast by seven millions of Americans," he yet, as a member of the Commission, voted against so going behind the returns every time the question came up, and held that the Kellogg return was stronger and superior to the law under which he sat as a Commissioner, sworn to do the thing that was right.

This, in a nut shell, is what this celebrated case is about, and the way it all fell out. It will be for the people to say, by their votes whether the conduct of Garfield was right or wrong. There is no dispute about the facts as we have stated them. There is no clashing whatever in the evidence.

This simultaneous rush from opposite directions of the most distinguished champions of Republicanism upon Hendricks shows but too plainly that they feel themselves to have been deeply hurt in a vital part. But, like David of old, he seems able to stand his ground and to defy the hosts that assail him. Nor does he need other help than the approving shouts of the millions of Democrats whose battle he fights single-handed and alone. HURRAH FOR HENDRICKS AND THE RIGHT.

"Rac" Chittenden Going to New York.

A brief article copied elsewhere from the New York Express, an organ of Tammany Hall, shows how complete is Democratic union in that city, and how bright are the prospects for a harmonious situation in Brooklyn also. This second marriage as it were of the opposing factions of the Democracy of the great Empire State is to be duly celebrated toward the latter part of the present month by a grand torch-light procession in which from 80,000 to 100,000 torches will flash along the line, and Mr. E. L. Chittenden, of this city, has signified his intention of visiting New York on the occasion for the purpose of witnessing the great event. It is a very sad and touching thing to see how deeply affected are the Republican papers over the reunion of the New York Democracy. They are shocked and pained beyond measure at the shameless lack of principle which permitted the two wings of the party to come together. They cannot get over it. They never saw anything so disgraceful and loathsome as the Irving Hall Democrats courting "a monstrous union with Tammany Hall"—although the last year witnessed the same coalition. It was all right, however, then, for such a righteous combination secured the election of the Republican ticket.

The Offering of an Infidel.

Infidel Bob Ingersoll, the man who declares that religion is a sham, and that Almighty God, the Supreme Ruler of the universe, is a cheat and fraud, offers to "be one of the 1,000 men to subscribe $2,000 each in order to raise $2,000,000 for the Garfield campaign fund." This indicates that Infidel Bob is of opinion Garfield's chances are desperate, and that nothing but wholesale bribery will save him. The Republican National Committee figured on obtaining two millions of dollars on the two per cent. assessment on Federal officeholders and employees. They did not get half of it, but they did get a large sum, more than is needed for any honest purpose. Ingersoll wants to make up the deficiency by raising two millions, and promises to give $2,000 as his share, which would merely represent the profits of a few of his Sunday night seances devoted to Moeses, the Bible and Christianity. With the endorsements Bob has had from Republican preachers in New England, he ought to have no difficulty in doubling up on the profits of his lecture campaign this winter. As a business dodge, Ingersoll's idea is a happy one. It is a cheap advertisement by the political parsons of Ingersoll's lectures the coming season.

But this audacious and corrupting proposition suggests other things. Here is a leading Radical who has undoubtedly done more to unsettle the religious faith of the present generation of Americans than all the writings of Voltaire, Volney and Paine; who preaches the direct road to a perfect state of human society lies in the overthrow of Christianity—the rejection of the Bible and its teachings—yet deliberately proposes to set aside appeals to reason or patriotism, as decisive of the Presidential struggle, and determine it by raising millions to be devoted to the bribery of voters! There could be no other use for the immense sum he wants to raise to elect Garfield. This is Bob Ingersollism reduced from theory to practice. It marks the desperation of the officeholders, contractors and subsidy jobbers who idolize Ingersoll as the great champion of their cause.

THE election for Governor, other State officers and Congressmen comes off in Maine to-day. Like Vermont, it is expected to go Republican, as, like Vermont, it has not been seriously contested by the Democrats. In fact, as in the case of Vermont, it matters very little which way it goes. It bodes nothing and proves nothing that is not already known. As to "the moral effect" for which the Republicans have been working so hard, both in Vermont and Maine, it's of no manner of use else where. People don't look in that direction for "moral effect" any more. Both may keep their "morals" and the "effect" of their morals to themselves. No body wants any more of either. We have had quite enough of both, and aside from Republicans who catch at straws to keep from drowning, nobody cares a straw's worth how either of them "goes," or whether they go at all. The center of gravity lies a long way from either of them, and very little attention is paid to whatever capers either of them may cut. They are too far out in the suburbs to set the fashions for the heart of the metropolis. They remind one of the fly on the ox's horn that so completely pitted him for the addition thus made to his burden.

The men who stayed at home during the war are the chaps who now have the most fear of the rebel army.

No "Political Small Pox" Shall Infect the Presidential Chair.

The Newton (Mass.) Republican, a Republican paper, refuses to support Garfield, supports Hancock, and utters some telling truths, not least among which is this: "The truth is that Garfield's election would result in a 'change' of policy which would plunge the nation into difficulties as damaging to business interests as were those which occurred during Grant's last administration. Sectional issues which are now satisfactorily adjusted would be revived, and in the place of confidence, with its attendant blessings, we should have turmoil, with its attendant horrors." That is just what Garfield's election would do. But it would do more than that. It would bring the Chief Magistracy of the United States into contempt of the people. The majority of the people who elected Tilden and Hendricks four years ago and were cheated of their choice by this very man Garfield as one of the "visiting statesmen"—one of the Republican conspirators, at New Orleans, and one of the eight Republican partisans on the Electoral Commission, have been patient for four years, and have been respectful to the incumbent of the Executive office, although knowing him to be a fraud. But they never will—never can, respect James A. Garfield, whether he be elected to the Presidency or not. As a taker of bribes, as a perjurer, as the chief engineer of the back pay steal, and as one of the thieves who stole the Presidency in 1876-7, James A. Garfield will be forever despised and loathed as just what he is, just what the Republican Investigation Committee of a Republican Congress have branded him, and just what the Republican press of the country has painted him in words that live and burn and that will ever live and burn. No cloak of the Presidency can be permitted to screen James A. Garfield from the indignation of a majority of the American people.

TRUTH ABOUT VERMONT.

Gigantic Efforts Gaining 1000 Republican Votes—Mill Heads Coerced—Money Fowling Like Water.

The Democratic National Committee and New York received from a member of the Vermont Democratic State Committee last evening the following telegram:

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 10.—William H. Barnum, Chairman Democratic National Committee: Garfield has had his dress parade in Vermont, as Blaine called it, and the Republicans have labored with the energy of despair to appear stronger than ever. Money has flowed like water, and all that it could reach were bought. The Republicans controlled the polls, and unnaturalized Canadians and men who had left the State months and even years ago, brought back for the purpose, voted the Republican ticket. The coercion of employees has been fearful. The issue was squarely presented: "Vote our ticket or leave our employ." Thousands of laborers were thus compelled to vote the Republican ticket. Towns nestled in the hills show Democratic gains, but these are neutralized by losses in adjoining towns controlled by factory lords. The Democrats have made a gallant fight, and although the vote in the State is 5,000 larger than in 1876, the Republicans do but little more, with all their desperate resorts, than hold their own. Two hundred and seven towns give for Governor: Farnham, Republican, 4,419; Phelps, Democratic, 19,851; scattering, 1,480. Republican majority, 23,038. The same towns gave in 1876: Fairbanks, Republican, 41,891; Bingham, Democrat, 19,602; scattering, 71. Republican majority, 22,217; Republican net gain, 871. Thirty-one towns to be heard from gave 1,391 Republican majority in 1876. The Republican majority in the whole State is about 24,500, being a net gain of less than 1,000. The Democrats of Vermont hope that the election of General Hancock, bringing peace to every part of our country, will be the dawn of a better day, when white as well as colored men can vote as freemen and not as slaves.

THE DE JARNETTE TRAG-EDY.

The Young Man Convicted of the Shooting of His Sister.

Baltimore, Sept. 9.—A special from Danville, Va., states that the jury in the case of T. J. De Jarnette, who has been on trial for the past four days for the murder of his sister, Mollie De Jarnette, in a house of ill-fame, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, with a recommendation for mercy. A motion was made for a new trial, and the court appointed Friday next for hearing the argument of counsel. The case has excited extraordinary interest, and the verdict proves a great surprise, notwithstanding the fact that the brutal killing of the unfortunate girl was fully admitted. The jury was composed of nine whites and three negroes, and able counsel were employed in the case, both for the prosecution and defense. During the trial the prisoner, a young and rather handsome man, was apparently unmoved by the story of the terrible tragedy as related by the witnesses. P. J. Burton testified that he took

THE DYING DEPOSITION

of Mollie De Jarnette in the house of ill-fame where she had been living, known as "Blonde hall," on July 8. In reply to a question by the mayor she said she knew that she was dying; she said her brother had treated her brutally, though she loved him dearly, and did not wish to see him punished for having killed her. Her brother said to her: "Mollie, I did it for your good. I had rather see you dead than lead a life of this sort. I did it as a warning for my little sister, and if it was to be done over again I would do the same thing to save her." During this conversation the prisoner was cool and collected, and admitted that he was wrong. Witness further testified that De Jarnette said that the evening before he learned that his sister was in the house of ill fame, and that he was maddened by the intelligence. He at once

DETERMINED TO KILL HER,

and took the first train for Danville. He drank a glass of beer and then went directly to the house. She was called down to the parlor, and he asked her to go to her room, saying that he wished to see her privately. She took him to her room, whereupon he locked the door and drew his pistol, but did not recollect what happened afterward. Lelia Lester, proprietress of Blonde hall, testified that she saw De Jarnette upstairs with his sister, and soon after heard a pistol shot. When the door was burst open saw De Jarnette standing in the room with a pistol in his hands and Mollie on the floor, bleeding from three wounds. Witness removed the clothing from the dying girl, and as she was doing so De Jarnette inquired of witness if she persuaded Mollie to come there, to which she (Mollie) answered: "No, brother." He then said he came to kill his sister, and also the landlady. A policeman, who was also present after the shooting, testified that when they started to leave the room Miss De Jarnette put her arms around her brother's neck and

ASKED HIM TO KISS HER GOOD-BYE.

He did so, and while in that position he said: "This is the kiss of death." On his way to jail he said he came to Danville for the purpose of killing his sister, and was not sorry for what he had done, and was ready to take the consequences for his act. Dr. Hoyt testified that when he entered the room the prisoner exclaimed: "I have done the deed and have no regrets for it." Miss De Jarnette then said: "My brother shot me, but I want him forgiven for what he has done." He then approached the bed and was tenderly embraced by the girl, who asked him to give her a farewell kiss, which he did. There were five bullet wounds in Miss De Jarnette, and she lingered several days. Another witness testified that after the first shot was fired Miss De Jarnette fell on her knees and begged him to spare her life, but he continued to fire upon her. During her fatal illness he asked the name of her seducer, and she replied that

seduced her under a promise of marriage in February, 1875. She had, however, only been an inmate of the house of ill-fame a few weeks before the shooting. On the part of the defense medical testimony was introduced to attempt to prove mental aberration on the part of the prisoner and some of his family, but it had no weight with the jury. Miss De Jarnette was a beautiful and accomplished girl, and her family were of high social standing.

POLITICAL.

The Republicans Claim Vermont by 26,000 Majority.

The Democratic Majority in Arkansas Continues to Increase.

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 10.—One hundred and fifty towns heard from give a Republican majority of 17,000. On this basis, the Republican majority over all will be about 22,500, and their plurality about 27,000. The Legislature will have but one Democratic Senator, and the House is overwhelmingly Republican.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 10.—Returns are coming in slowly, but favorable to the Republicans. One hundred and seventy towns heard from give the following result: Farnham, Republican, 37,046; Phelps, Democrat, 17,048; Heath, Greenback, 1,212; scattering, 3; Farnham's majority, 19,373. The same 170 towns gave Fairbanks, Republican, in 1876, 35,737; Bingham, Democrat, 16,791; scattering, 51; Fairbanks' majority, 18,895, an increase in the Republican majority of 478. The complexion of the Legislature, as per vote received, is 137 Republicans to 14 Democrats. Towns to be heard from will increase the Republican gubernatorial and Congressional vote materially. Most of the counties will be in to-day.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 8.—Returns of the State election and gubernatorial vote have been received from 220 towns, leaving twenty-one to be heard from. The Congressional vote has been received from 202 towns, leaving thirty-nine towns to be heard from. The gubernatorial vote stands as follows: Farnham, Republican, 48,823; Phelps, Democrat, 20,717; Heath, Greenback, 1,530; Farnham's majority over all, 26,576. The same towns gave in 1876: Fairbanks, Republican, 44,065; Bingham, Democrat, 20,320; scattering, 73; Fairbanks' majority, 23,670. This shows a Republican gain of 2,604 and a Democratic gain of 397 in 220 towns. The towns to be heard from gave in 1876: Fairbanks', Republican, 658; Bingham, Democrat, 668; but if the Republican gain in the remaining twenty-one towns is proportionate to those heard from, Farnham's majority will be at least 26,936 on the entire vote of the State. In 1876 the Republican majority was 23,725. In the First Congressional district, seventy-four towns gave Joyce, Republican, 13,150; Randall, Democrat, 7,448; Martin, Greenback, 635; Joyce's majority, 7,067. In the Second Congressional district, in seventy-two towns, Tyler, Republican, has 14,732; Campbell, Democrat, 5,039; Mead, Fusion, 341; scattering, 2; Tyler's majority, 8,445. In the Third district, in 15 towns, Grant, Republican, has 10,916; Carrier, Democrat, 5,021; Tarbell, Greenback, 1,118; scattering, 415; Grant's majority, 4,361. There are in the Third district twenty-nine towns to be heard from. The complexion of the next Legislature will be more strongly Republican than for a long time, being composed of 192 Republicans, 15 Democrats and 1 Greenbacker. Full returns on all tickets will probably be received to-morrow.

FURTHER RETURNS FROM ARKANSAS.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 10.—Returns from all townships, save one in Pulaski county, show an average majority of 250 for the Democratic State ticket. The Democrats also elect Williams, Representative; Newton, Circuit Clerk; Griffith, Treasurer; Baldwin, Assessor; Burrows, Surveyor; and Woolford, Coroner. The Republicans elect Gray, Warwick and Altenburg, Representatives; Oliver, Sheriff; Coats, County Judge, and Benjamin, County Clerk. The effective majority against the Constitutional Amendment in Pulaski is over 5,000. Franklin, Pope, Conway, Crittenden, Sebastian and Faulkner give majorities for the Amendment. Pulaski, Ouachita, Lee, Galord, Saline, Crawford, Phillips, and Jefferson, against the Amendment. The Greenbackers carried Nevada county, except for Sheriff.

Democratic Union in New York.

Brooklyn Moving in the Same Direction.

New York Express.

Despite the wishes and predictions of the Republican organs in this city, the Democracy are gradually coming together, and there is no doubt that the present situation of affairs in this county points to a complete and thorough union between the supporters of Tammany and Irving halls before the meeting of the State convention on the 28th inst. When the scheme to unite on Congressional and Assembly candidates last July was talked of, grave doubts were entertained that it could or would be accomplished, but at this moment that scheme has been satisfactorily carried out, and, in addition, conference committees from the two Democratic organizations are now engaged in extending that union to county nominees, to inspectors, supervisors and poll clerks, so that, on election morning, there will be no division of sentiment among Democrats in this city, but all will be formed in line of battle to fight the Republican party.

If the sincerity of the desire for unity was doubted before, yesterday's proceedings in the Board of Aldermen removed such doubts. Scarcely had the board convened when Alderman Sauer, representing the Tammany Hall members, offered a resolution to reconsider the vote by which Judge Murray (anti-Tammany) was rejected a few weeks ago, but the objection was over-ruled. Alderman Sauer, in explaining his vote, stated, "that as long as he remained a member of the Board of Aldermen he would never again cast his vote to confirm a Republican." This speech was received with loud applause, and after the calling of the roll was concluded the result proved that for the first time in four years the representatives of the two Democratic organizations voted as a unit.

The sensible course adopted in this city has prompted the Democracy of Kings county to imitate it. Last night the independent Democracy of Brooklyn met, and before the close of the proceedings Mr. Anthony Barrett, a member of the Executive Committee and Vice-Chairman of the late Coloy State Committee, presented a resolution providing for the appointment of a conference committee of five to wait upon the regular Democratic organization of Kings county for the purpose of arranging a plan to unite on Congressional and Assembly candidates. The resolution was unanimously adopted, and there is no doubt that before the close of the present month the Brooklyn Democracy will be as firmly united as are those of this city. With all dissensions and jealousies eradicated in these two Democratic strongholds local victories for the party will not only be secured, but Hancock and English will have a majority of at least 80,000, which no amount of Republican crookedness in the interior of the State can overcome.

SAM B. SWEET, Agt.
Robbed of His Ticker.
Mr. Lew Clark, well known in Fort Wayne, entered a drinking saloon about six o'clock last evening and after remaining therein for an indefinite period, discovered that he had been quietly relieved of his watch. There is a faint clue to the perpetrator, which it is thought can be successfully unraveled. From the number of similar depredations committed in Fort Wayne recently one is led to believe that the city is being overrun by a horde of pickpockets and other unhung villains.

A vote taken in the Pittsburgh copper shop Saturday evening resulted: Hancock, 17; Garfield, 4.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

Sudden Death of Rev. Wolfgang S. Stubenatzky

After a Life Devoted to the Cause of the Heav. only Master.

A Brief Sketch of His Life—The Funeral Obsequies, etc.

About five o'clock this morning Rev. Wolfgang Simon Stubenatzky, pastor of Emanuel's German Lutheran Church, died at his late residence, No. 241 West Jefferson street, in the presence of his wife and members of his family.

Rev. Wolfgang Simon Stubenatzky was born at Fuerth, Bavaria, in 1829. After his confirmation he entered the seminary of Rev. Loehe, at New Dettelsau, Bavaria. In the year 1848 he came to Fort Wayne and entered the Concordia seminary, of this city, to prepare for the ministry. He was examined in 1849 in presence of the members of the Missouri Synod, then in session at Fort Wayne, and accepted at only 20 years old a call of the Lutheran congregation at Cooper's Grove, Ills. In 1862 he was called by St. Paul's congregation of this city as assistant of Rev. Dr. Sihler. Within seven years the congregation had grown so large that the members thereof being west of Harrison street formed a new congregation, known as St. Emanuel's, and located on West Jefferson street, and called Rev. Stubenatzky as their pastor. Under his faithful and able ministry this congregation has grown to be one of the largest in the city, having a membership of about 250. Since the year 1878 Rev. Stubenatzky has always been the president of the Middle District of the German Lutheran (Missouri) Synod, comprising the Lutheran congregations of the Synod composed of the States of Indiana and Ohio—about one hundred congregations in all. For many years he has also been the President of the Board of Trustees of Concordia College, of this city. He was a man greatly beloved not only by the members of his own church, but by the people of the city as well. His great zeal in the cause of the Master, his eminent ability, and the great love for his people shone pre-eminently in all his walk through life. After a life of usefulness here below it can be truthfully said of him that he has gone to occupy one of the many mansions prepared for him in his Heavenly Father's House—to receive the Crown of Righteousness that has long since been laid up for him. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn their loss, his oldest son being a minister of the gospel, while his oldest daughter is the wife of Mr. Martin Detzer, a druggist of this city.

Yesterday Rev. Stubenatzky preached in the morning at the usual hour and also conducted the Sacrament of Lord's Supper in the presence of a large congregation. If the afternoon he also conducted religious services and visited a number of the sick and enfeebled members of his congregation. In the evening he visited the residence of Dr. Proegler, in the west end of the city, and performed the service of Baptism. At 10 o'clock last night he retired to bed in his accustomed health, and awakened at 3 this morning feeling quite ill. He told the members of his family not to be worried about his condition, and also requested them not to send for the family physician, as he deemed it not necessary. He walked the floor for a short time, and then again retired. At 5 o'clock his wife awoke and hearing him breathe with that peculiar shortness indicative of the near approach of death, and being unable to speak, she became alarmed and immediately dispatched for Dr. Proegler, but before the medical gentleman arrived the spirit of the dying man had fled to the unseen world. The cause of his death was pronounced to be paralysis of the heart. He was aged 51 years, and his funeral will take place on Thursday next. Services appropriate to the occasion will be held in St. Emanuel's Church and conducted by Rev. Dr. Sihler. The interment will take place at the Lutheran cemetery in the East End. Peace to the ashes of the good man.

The Silver-Tongued Orator.
In addition to the gentlemen heretofore named who will visit Fort Wayne on Tuesday, September 28, will come the Hon. Daniel Dougherty, of Philadelphia, who is known all over the country by the sobriquet of "the silver-tongued orator." There will be speaking in both the afternoon and evening. Prior to the evening meeting there will be a rousing torch-light procession, participated in by all the Democratic clubs of the city, including the First Voters' club and the Young Men's club. No one should miss the opportunity of listening to the eloquent Dan Dougherty. He will make the Rink tremble with the brilliancy of his utterances and the solidity of his argument.

The Young Democrats of Hunting-ton.
Thomas Buchanan, the secretary of the Young Men's Hancock club, of Huntington, writes to the SENTINEL as follows: The Young Men's Hancock and English club meeting last evening was a complete success. The audience was large; the music excellent; while the able and eloquent speech of Mr. W. O. Whitlock called forth loud and continued applause. Six new members were admitted, making in all one hundred and six. The club adjourned with three rousing cheers for the Democratic candidates. The club is in a most flourishing condition and sends hearty greeting to the young Democracy of Fort Wayne.

Monday Morning Matinee.
William Hitchcock, drunk and disorderly, $5; Chas. Nave, drunk, $3; Chas. Keenan, for getting drunk and attempting to demolish Mollie Nichols' "dive," $10; Tom Keefer, for fast driving, $5.

A series of Sunday night temperance entertainments will probably be given at the Olympic hereafter.

Grand Excursion.
The Independent Order of Odd Fellows will run a grand excursion to Toronto, Canada, to attend the annual session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F., on Thursday, September 16, 1880, via the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific and Canada Southern railroads, and palace steamer Rothesay across Lake Ontario, at the extremely low rates from Fort Wayne of only $7.00. Train leaves at 7:35 p. m., arriving at Niagara Falls at 7:35 a. m. Friday, the 17th, where those who desire can stop until 4:00 p. m., same day and take the steamer to Toronto, arriving at 9:30 p. m., or they can stop until the next morning and arrive at Toronto at noon on Saturday. Those who do not stop at the Falls will arrive in Toronto Friday noon. Tickets good to return on any regular train up to October 5th, 1880.

A magnificent reception will be given the members of the order and their friends by the Odd Fellows of Canada.

Remember this excursion gives 24 hours at Niagara Falls, and arrives in Toronto in time to attend the great Industrial Exposition of Canada. Arrangements can be made to secure special car and sleeping car accommodations by calling on or addressing
